

Section - A

- 1) According to the passage, the challenge for today's parents is that they aren't able to say 'no' these days therefore they find themselves growing a greedy child, whose needs doesn't even get satisfied after getting what he/she wants.
- 2) In the passage, according to the psychologists - the parents who over indulge their kids have to face consequences as they set them up to be more vulnerable to future anxiety and depression, they will begin to ask for more than which is enough for them because there is always more to want nowadays and they won't understand the meaning of 'no' & 'self-sacrifice'.
- 4) Children learn critical lessons of life by waiting; which means with patience, savings and working hard, industriously, assiduously to achieve or attain their targets and goals.
- 5) These days advertisement is a major source that influences a child, through advertisement kids start getting to know about more lavish products and for these goods, the crave, hunger or greed of kids come out as these are especially aimed or created to target child's mindset to want more and more.